“Charlie Brown and Friends” Bring Joy to FHS

The Fallsburg Jr/Sr High School Drama Club brought an evening of joy to an appreciative audience when they performed the musical, You’re A Good Man, Charlie Brown, on April 8 and 9.

After a two-year hiatus in theater and concert events, Charlie Brown and all the Peanuts characters seemed perfect to celebrate renewal of a long tradition of great drama productions on the FCSD stage. A fine collection of school-age children that had won the hearts of the millions of newspaper readers, television watchers and theater goers over so many years was present on this winter evening. Many of the roles on stage were first-time performers. Along with veteran actors, they formed a wonderful ensemble.

Charlie Brown (played by Cecelia Norris-Yanes) and his friends, do all the normal childhood things. They play baseball, struggle with homework, send Valentines, sing songs, and share friendship. For the past two years because of health issues, schools were operating under non-normal conditions. On this night and the following night, the actors conveyed the joy of play and friendship so sorely needed in the after-school activities such as this musical. The audience forgot about the past interruption and reveled in the moment as they watched regular students performing as normal children in the magical world of Charlie Brown.

It is impossible to single out individual roles when the focus is about the group, the ensemble. Director Tobi Magnetico brought out the best in each performer and one could feel the closeness on the cast members in every scene. The pacing was beautiful from scene to scene. The music was superb under the direction of Ms. Danna Clear. The sound, the sets, the lighting, and the staging were in the hands of professionals and staff.

All the behind-the-scenes people made it possible for the cast to function as one company that cared for one another and allowed each member to shine. The ensemble was Sanaya Aquil, Olga Flores Bonilla, Adira Greer Padilla, Hayden-Marie Herrera, Adam Mednick, Bella and Nicholas Muscia, Cecilia Norris-Yanes, Jalysa Poindexter, and Elisheva Sudranski.

Thank you to all who brought the “old” normal back to the Fallsburg community. You made grateful hearts feel full by reminding us of the simple pleasures of childhood and the schoolhouse. That is an exceptionally large thing in these times.

Fallsburg on skates

Saturday March 26, 2022, the Fallsburg Central School District presented an Ice Skating Winter Event for all the students and their families to have a good time and enjoy the presence of loved ones. An ice rink was set up and other fun games were presented. Hot chocolate, a food truck, and a little buffet was set up for people to enjoy. The ice skating was a hit! All the kids wanted to skate and did not want to leave. Even though they kept falling, they got right back up and went after it again! This event was sponsored by Sullivan 180 Rolling V Bus Corp. Rolling V picked up students that did not have a ride but still wanted to go. This made a huge difference and a better outcome. A raffle was held and some kids got prizes! Free winter supplies were given out such as coats and hats. This event was a huge success and got families out to enjoy the day with their kids.

Celebrating Black History Month

The Importance of Black History Month

By Iyanna Smith

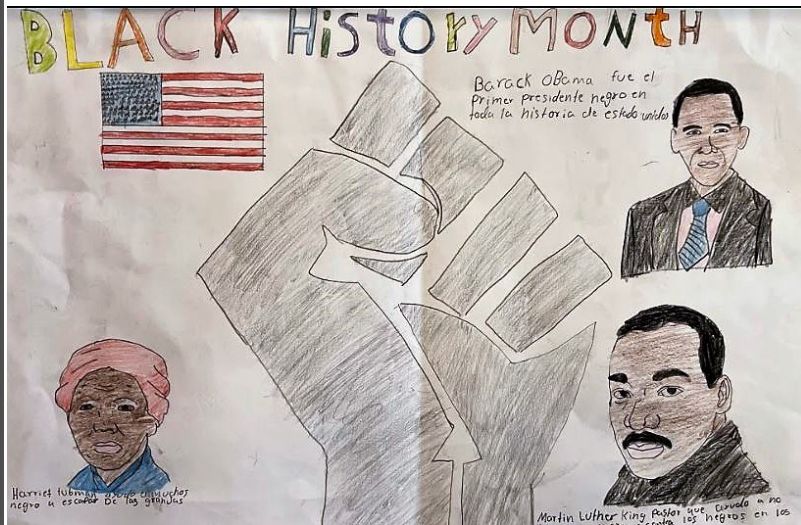

I have decided to write about Ruby Bridges . Many people know of her, but don't know how much she paved the way for people of color. Ruby Bridges was just six years old when she first attended an all white public school, Frantz Elementary. Not only did she attend, but she was the first ever African American child to desegregate an all white school. The amount of Racism and prejudice she had to endure every single day just to attend school was ridiculous. This Woman is beyond worthy of Noble peace prize, without her, imagine how different schooling could be. Ruby bridges had to be escorted to school every single day because of how vile people were towards her. She had to walk past crowds of people yelling slurs at her, throwing rocks and stones, and threatening her. She claims one thing that really frightened her as a child was when she witnessed a white woman holding a black baby doll in a coffin. Parents went as far as pulling their children out of school just because she was there. Every single teacher except one refused to teach Ruby in their classroom, Barbara Henry. For the entire year she was a class of just 1 student. She didn't have any friends and would often eat and play by herself. The only person she would consider her friend was her teacher. Even with the loads of Racism she endured, she never missed one day of school. This six year old girl went through so much just to be able to receive an education. She was a child put through so much emotional trauma but still pushed forward and fought for change. Ruby Bridges family was put through so much just for wanting their child to receive a better education. Her father lost his job and many places refused to sell to her mother, but not once did they give up. I'm so heavily inspired by Ruby Bridges because I consider myself to be an activist and this woman has been an activist since six years old . I want to grow up to be strong minded, confident, and inspirational just like her. I often wonder how different school would be if she never stood her ground. Schools most likely would have stayed segregated for a long time. One part of this story that really resonates with me is that this all occurred in 1958. This only happened 63 years ago, it's extremely saddening to hear some people say " oh slavery happened so long ago", "Segregation happened way back in the day, get over it". Ruby Bridges is only 66 years old and is alive and well to tell her story. Change didn't come so easily and we still have many other issues to resolve. Racism and prejudice didn't just go away, the majority of people of color still experience it to this day. Facing micro aggressions, profiling, police brutality, assault and etc. It's better to be aware of the situations occurring than to be ignorant. Activism comes in many forms and Ruby Bridges is one of the many examples.

Today's Students Tomorrow's Teachers!

The members of the TSTT attended a field trip on Wednesday, May 4th. They made a college visit to the campus of Marist College, Poughkeepsie, NY, which is set on the idyllic Hudson River in Poughkeepsie, NY. The students participated in a panel discussion that consisted of two professors and two students in Marist's education department. The discussion was very interactive and informative and the feedback from the students was positive. They enjoyed hearing about the students' experiences at Marist and the challenges they faced. The group went on a tour of the campus including the classrooms, library, dorms and their TV studio. The guide was interactive as the students engaged in a scavenger hunt as they completed the tour. They had a wonderful visit and took pride in representing Fallsburg!

Garmadon

He goes by many names, both good and evil. And yet he still manages to be a hero. Though his darker side is shown to be aggressive, powerful, and eager, his lighter side will always be ready to take on the challenge that isn't weaker.

His powers are shadow and light, like yin and yang that prove themselves worthy to fight. He's been through so much, losing his son multiple times, betraying his friends, even forced to become a hollow shell of himself, sometimes you wonder how his character is never put away on the shelf.

He can form blades out of dark matter, or become friends with his enemy, his life ends up becoming full of serenity.

Though now, he is at peace. No matter his form or side, his grief and sadness are now released. There is no more worrying about the present, it is now his job to guide his son into the future that is absolutely pleasant.

And that, he believes, that it was always meant to be.

Quick Questions with Students

Interview with Kaitlyn Cross

How does it feel being a senior?

To be a senior, you have a lot of freedom. So, you have to be able to stay on task on your own. People try to scare you that it will be hard, but as long as you pay attention and do your work, you'll be just fine.

What has your senior year been like?

My senior year has gone by very fast. The last quarter is probably the hardest because there's a lot going on and the due dates are close together because the year is almost over.

What has been your favorite sport this year?

My favorite sport this year was basketball. The team and coach were very supportive after my injury and still made my senior night special, even though I couldn't play.

What was your favorite thing about basketball season?

My favorite thing about basketball season was when Amanda Zeno came to one of our practices and helped the players work on their skills.

What was your favorite thing about softball season?

My favorite thing about softball season was having such a positive team. No matter if we won or lost, we still would push to do better for the next game & we never gave up.

What career do you want to go into?

I want to go into a career involving criminal justice so I can help others.

Are you planning on going to college?

I am going to SUNY Sullivan first with the presidential scholarship and then after I plan to attend a 4 year college to continue my education.

Are you going to miss this school?

I will miss the teachers that were there for me.
